Faculty were encouraged to look at the prospects’ applications on the web, especially those for material science and electrical engineering.

The AF will pay $12K/year to support the research of each of 6 students in the program starting in the Spring 2003. To expand the course offering in Chemical Engineering at UTSI a number of additional Chem E courses will be offered via distance education from UTK. The new UTSI recruiting brochure is in the final stages of preparation.
